Welcome to the BUILD project

Supporting older adults with complex care needs through engagement that inspires and solutions that matter.

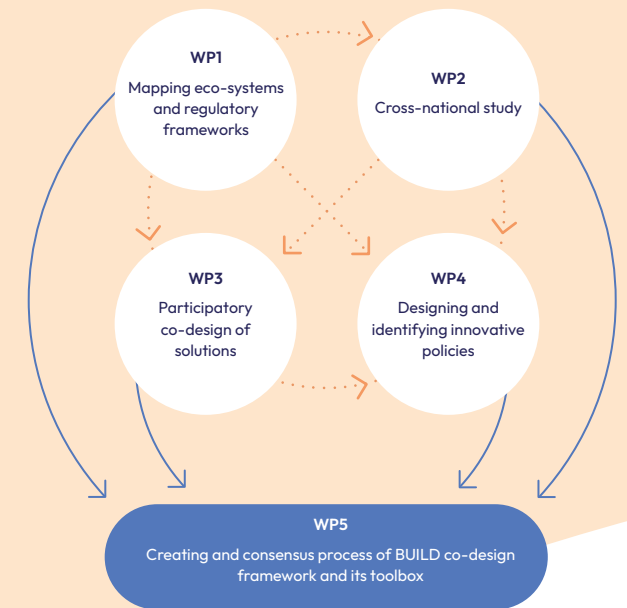

Our goal is to create a practical guide and set of tools to help communities and decision-makers collaborate to design care systems that include everyone. By listening to older adults, caregivers, and communities, we aim to build care solutions that are both sustainable and centred around people's needs. This project also focuses on reducing the inequalities that affect long-term care, especially for those facing social and economic challenges.

What will BUILD do?

- Understanding current care systems: We're starting by exploring how integrated care systems work across Europe and identifying the rules and challenges that shape them.
- Learning from real-life experiences: We're conducting a study to see how different types of care come together and to understand how social inequalities affect people's access to care.
- Co-creating solutions together: We'll bring older adults, caregivers, community members, and decision-makers to the table to co-create care solutions that truly reflect their needs and experiences.
- Measuring what works: The solutions we develop will be evaluated to see if they are making a positive impact and are sustainable for the future.
- Shaping future policies: Using what we learn, we'll create recommendations to guide future care systems, making them more inclusive and effective for everyone.

In a nutshell

The BUILD project starts by exploring the current state of integrated care across Europe to get a clear understanding of what's working and what requires improvement. From there, we will involve all main actors into the process to create care approaches that genuinely reflect people's needs and experiences.
